

CARBONDALE.

[The Carbondale correspondence of The Tribune has been placed in the hands of Mr. C. R. Munn, Salem avenue and Church street, to whom news items may be addressed. All communications for regular delivery, etc., should be made to Roberts & Reynolds, news agents.]

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

John Beckett Found on the O. and W. Track Saturday.

About 4 o'clock Saturday morning John Beckett was found dead on the Ontario track near the bridge across the car shop switches of the Delaware and Hudson road. The pusher was going to the yard when the crew noticed the body lying alongside the rails. The engine was stopped and examination showed that the man had been dead for some time. Word was sent to Undertaker Purple, who took charge of the remains. The man was evidently killed by a train, and it is supposed that the accident occurred late Friday night. One arm is cut off near the shoulder and one of his feet is gone. It is possible that the man was not killed instantly, but that he lay along the track after the accident and died to death. Except for the injuries to his limbs, no serious wounds are perceptible. None of the train crews has any recollection of anything that would indicate the time of the accident.

Deputy Coroner Spaeth was notified of the finding of the body and viewed the remains. He did not deem an inquest necessary, as every effort was shown to find the man. Nothing was found on his body by which he could be identified except a letter. It was addressed to "John Beckett, 88 South Canal street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa." The letter was dated Hazleton, May 19, 1898, and read as follows: "Mr. John Beckett, Wilkes-Barre, Dear Sir: Yours of ninth received, and in reply will state that I cannot ship tools until you remit me two dollars. (Signed) J. Friedlander." Undertaker Purple has gone to Wilkes-Barre to endeavor to locate the man's friends if he has any there.

The dead man was apparently about thirty-eight years of age. He was of medium height and weight, dark complexion, and had a black mustache. It is possible that he was riding on a freight or coal train and fell between the cars. In such a case he would easily have passed unnoticed, while if he had been run down while walking the engine crew would likely have been aware of the accident. The man bears a mark on his left side, showing that he has been the victim of a previous accident.

P. Fineran, of Dunduff street, knew Beckett and says he learned the employer's name of him. The unfortunate man was seen on Salem avenue at 9 o'clock the night of the accident.

Through Mr. Fineran it was learned he had friends down the valley and a communication was sent to John Law, of Kingston. His mother was an old friend of the Beckett family and said the deceased's parents are buried in Honesdale. She ordered a casket of Undertaker Purple and John Law sent word that he would be here today to arrange for having the remains interred at Honesdale.

RACES ON THE FOURTH.

Big Programme Being Arranged for Anthracite Park.

A big programme of sport is in course of preparation for the Anthracite park on July 4. There are now nearly fifty horses in the park stables, which are kept there for training purposes. Many of these are entered for the races, and there will be others from several cities. Among those who will have horses in the Anthracite course are Robert Westlake, of Scranton; James Justin, of Scranton; John Lilly, of Pittston; L. A. Patterson, of this city; J. W. Sherwood, of Jermyn; S. Andrews, of Carbondale, and others from this city and elsewhere.

Following are some of the events on the card: Green race, purse $25; three-minute class, purse $25; 2 1/2 class, purse $50; free for all race, purse $50; wheelbarrow race, purse $5; sack race, prize $5; half-mile foot race, prize $10. All those who are desirous of entering the foot races must hand their names to the manager of the park by 10 o'clock in the morning of Monday, July 4. An entrance fee of five per cent of the prize must be paid by all entering the half-mile race.

CRYSTAL LAKE SEASON.

Coollest Spot in Pennsylvania, Is Becoming More Popular.

The Crystal Lake season is fairly opened, and that pretty resort will be lively for the next three months. The cottagers are filling up their cool, summer homes and the hotels are receiving new guests every day. Other well-known Scranton people are known to be arranging for quarters at the coolest spot in Pennsylvania. The most prosperous season in the history of the lake is looked for during the present summer.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Hazel Wheeler entertained Miss Edna Dimock, of Honesdale, over Sunday.

Mrs. James Warden, of Harrisburg, who was called to her father by the death of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Kelly, has returned to Oneonta, where she will remain for a time.

Mrs. Bert Trent and child are spending a month at Beach lake.

Mrs. G. F. Sherwood, of Newark valley, and Minnie Phillips, of Lake Como, are visiting Mrs. L. H. Wilcox, on Belmont street.

Mrs. B. Moses, Miss Esther and Francis Moses, of Scranton; Fred Moses, of Wilkes-Barre; H. B. Singer, of New York, were guests Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. R. Singer, on South Main street. They came here to attend the commencement exercises. Mr. Singer will return to New York today.

The recruits for the regular army are coming in rapidly. About a dozen have handed their names to City Engineer Erick, who represents Lieutenant Dentler in this city. The examining surgeon will be in this city on Tuesday next. The recruits who pass will be sent to Fort McPherson at once.

PRICEBURG.

It took six trolley cars to carry the teachers, pupils and friends of the public schools of this borough to enjoy an outing at Laurel Hill park, Thursday. The Sunday school scholars and teachers of the Primitive Methodist Sunday school held their anniversary yesterday morning, afternoon and evening in the church. Mr. Whitest is to be praised upon the singing of the children. Recitations and singing were the features of the anniversary.

The Temperance society met Saturday night.

Mrs. J. J. Atken, of Main street, is visiting her parents in Forest City.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

Jermyn borough council met in special session Friday evening to take action on proposals to repair the borough lockup. Bills were received for doing the collecting and masonry work from Stone, Transau & Parke, $115; L. W. Hoffecker, $144; William Hutchings, $105.50. For plumbing, bids from Thomas Saloman, $80; Edward Stubbs, $58; Kagan & O'Donnell, $55. The building committee was instructed to make contracts with William Hutchings and Kagan & O'Donnell, and have the work completed as soon as possible.

Is it not about time that our borough auditors completed their work and posted the proper report, so that people may see what was done with the taxes during the past year?

Mrs. C. Badger and daughter, Edna, of Utica, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. W. S. Badger, on Cemetery street.

Mr. Hayes Frederick, of Avoca, called on Jermyn friends Thursday evening.

TAYLOR NEWS.

This Evening's Lectures--Children's Day Exercises--Personal Notes.

The attraction to the public of Taylor this evening will be "Cuba and the War," a thrilling lecture, superbly illustrated with a powerful double projection, which is to be given in the Methodist Episcopal church by Professor Henry P. Van Lew, whose lectures on "The Slaves of New York" were so greatly enjoyed some time ago. Nearly one hundred and fifty youths will be shown, including beautiful absorbing effects, "Soldier's Dream," "Peace and War," "The Maine Disaster," etc. The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission, adults, 20 cents; children, 10 cents.

The Tribune branch office in Taylor is in the Colburn building. Local Representatives E. G. Evans in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, of Honesdale, were the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Davis, of Main street, yesterday.

The Jermyn and Company store clerks accept the challenge of the Taylor clerks in a game on the school house grounds on July 4, at 9 o'clock. John E. Evans, manager; John Ayers, captain.

Richard Williams, of the Bloomsburg State Normal school, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams, of Main street.

"Children's day" services in the Welsh Baptist church yesterday were unusually interesting. The church was tastefully decorated with blossoms and evergreens and with the national colors. A good programme was rendered, consisting of recitations, solos, duets and quartets, assisted by the choir, under the direction of Professor John Francis. The exercises were witnessed by a large and well pleased audience.

Temple of Love lodge, No. 7, True Invictes, elected officers at its meeting in Honesdale on Saturday evening. Frederick Wilson, Edward Ganger, H. J. Davis and William Fairclough, of this place, took a pleasure drive to Moonie yesterday.

James Davis, of Hyde Park, was a visitor on friends in this place yesterday.

Last Friday afternoon, while riding his wheel, Ralph Davenport, a bright little lad of about 8 years, was thrown and quite seriously injured. When the wheel struck the track young Davenport was thrown under a passing wagon, so that he was loaded with lime and in all weighed about $300 pounds. The wheels ran over and broke the lad's right arm and right leg. The wheel was demolished. Dr. Hooper, of Taylor, with the assistance of E. B. Decker, who witnessed the accident, set the injured member, and the boy is now improving as rapidly as can be expected.

Fred Hartman, of Rendham, visited West Side friends Sunday.

At the meeting of the Martin Luther lodge, No. 22, Loyal Knights of America, on Saturday evening, the following were installed: Worthy master, Enoch Williams; worthy deputy master, Thomas Francis; recording secretary, Tallie Jones; assistant recording secretary, David Francis; treasurer, Thomas Hadlock; conductor, David J. Owens; assistant conductor, Sidney Owens; chaplain, David J. Jones; outside tyler, James Palmer; inside tyler, William Thomas; trustee, John F. Tubbs.

David Whiteford, of Green Ridge, was the guest of his parents in this place yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Inglis, of Yatesville, were the guests of relatives in this place yesterday.

Taylor silk mill paid their employees for May on Saturday.

Emblem Division No. 57, Sons of Temperance, will meet this evening in Van Horn's hall, when election of officers will be held. All members are requested to be present.

John Aston, of Spring Brook, was a caller on friends in this place yesterday.

Charles Bowerick, of Hyde Park, was a Taylor visitor yesterday.

John S. Davis, of Hyde Park, circulated among friends in this place yesterday.

Yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock Rev. John McLaughlin, a popular young man of this town, celebrated his first mass in the St. Joseph church. The young priest was ordained last week at St. Bonaventure's, Baltimore, where he has been a student for the last five years. He will soon leave for Kentucky where he will act as curate. A reception was tendered him at his home on Union street.

AVOCA.

Two important ceremonies took place in St. Mary's church yesterday. In the afternoon Rt. Rev. Bishop Hoban confirmed a class of 150 boys and girls. In the evening a number of young ladies were invested in the order of the Most Holy Virgin's sodality. The altars were beautifully decorated and a number of visiting clergy were present.

Misses Agnes Clifford and Kate Ireton, of Mansfield, Messrs. Michael Munley and Owen Dunne, of Villa Nova and William Dixon, of St. Bonaventure's have returned from school to spend their vacations at the home of their friends.

Miss Carrie La Bee, of Hackettstown, is the guest of her brother John, of Main street.

David Burns, of Grove street, em-played as carpenter at the Ravine shaft, was seized with cramps on Wednesday morning. He was removed to his home and medical aid summoned. It was several hours before he was relieved.

Alexander Major, caterer for Company C, Thirtieth regiment, is enjoying a few days' furlough.

John Coal and Thomas Rohart left Friday to join the recruiting forces at Camp Aiken.

Mrs. M. J. Reap and daughter, Lucy, spent Friday with friends in Dunmore.

Among the many Avoca students who have graduated from college, Miss Ella Tighe claims the distinction of being the first trained nurse graduate in the town. The exercises were held in the Albright Memorial on Thursday evening. Misses B. Doran, Alice Monahan, and Margaret Dougher attended the ceremonies.

Miss Lewis Giesinger and family, of Sayre, and Mrs. Frederick Burkard and family, of Pittston, were guests of Mrs. C. Dunfer on Thursday.

A meeting of the Democrats of the Fifth Legislative district Democratic convention will be held at Avoca today. The primaries were held Saturday afternoon between 4 and 7 o'clock. There were three aspirants for the nomination for legislative representative, John Monahan, of Avoca, the present incumbent, T. J. Curran, of Pittston, and M. J. Figue, of Port Griffith. T. J. Curran, of Avoca, is chairman of the district committee and Edward Barrett, of Mill Creek, is secretary.

Mrs. H. M. Steever, Mrs. D. J. Brown, Mrs. Lizzie Peck, Mrs. A. Swartz, and Miss Jennie Newlen enjoyed a spin to Wilkes-Barre on Thursday.

ONE WOMAN'S VIEWS.

Postoffice people find very queer things in the mails besides letters. These things get loose in the pouches and having no mark of ownership have to be sent to the general distributing office, which is the case with a monopoly non-a-days are the positions of bicycles. In a recently published list of strayed property, about every alternate thing was a bicycle bar clamp, ball bearing, bicycle seat post, saddle, or some other appurtenance of a wheel. Another and earlier patron of the mails is the person who sends medicine. Pills seem to be the favorite, and of these all sorts and conditions get out of their wrappers and bother the clerks. Here are some of the things recently described for ownership. Miniature of a lady, bronze powder, ointment, stick pin, box turtur case, gold nugget, obesity salts, brass rod, artificial flowers, pepsin pills, knife, fork and spoon, liver medicine to cure liver troubles, box of bath soap, Malin, hotel key, headache pills, shoe measure, dumb watch, more pills, string of beads, two rings, box of rheumatism cure, bread knife, one tree wood alligator, one long alligator, one yellow butterfly about to emerge from the cocoon, one small snake preserved in alcohol, one box containing two live crickets, one hind foot of a rabbit. These are only a few from the collection which seems likely to remain unclaimed.

At the Scranton postoffice may be seen a tiny pair of Indian moccasins, gay in bead work, and awaiting a claimant. Money in coin is frequently found loose in the mails. Instead of placing it in the envelope, securely fastened to paper, the senders have a habit of enclosing it in a little box whose sharp corners speedily nibble their way out and as the box is usually unmarked, the money is difficult to identify. A five dollar gold piece was recently returned to a sender by the officials at this postoffice, but it was only after long and laborious effort that the identification was made satisfactory.

Said a railroad postal clerk the other day, "I have had a number of southern mail with suspicion during the winter. You never know what some blooming idiot will box up and send to his friends in the north. We actually found a little tarantula one time, small to be sure, but lively, and the number of crawling crawling things they seem possessed to put in the mail is enough to make any postal clerk devote himself to water as a beverage during the remainder of his life--these silly green chameleons, and queer brown beetles, you know. Harmless, oh, yes, but if given a start they will find an amateur crocodile trying to crawl up his arm under his cuff when he's all alone in the car at midnight on an express train that makes few stops. The first time I had an experience when I held a queer, bumpy looking thing emerging from a box that, from its appearance, might have contained roses for a girl graduate. It had hateful wings and an evil snarl on its horrid face and to me it looked like a pocket edition of the devil. We were fifty miles from the next stop and I rang the bell furiously, climbed up on a big safe in the corner and waited for the conductor to rescue me. The crew came in expecting that it was a case of road agents, and after some time it was discovered that the bad thing was from the next stop and I rang the bell furiously, climbed up on a big safe in the corner and waited for the conductor to rescue me.
